

NSW Rugby Union Centre of Excellence

Kane Constructions successfully completed the $15 million Design and Construct contract to deliver the NSW Rugby Union Centre of Excellence.

Located at the David Phillips Sports Complex in Daceyville, this facility services rugby across the state, acting as a central hub for games at all levels from the professional arm through to academy and grassroots programs.

The new two-storey Centre of Excellence features:

- Brand new international standard rugby field
- 500m2 gym facility
- 3 change rooms
- Medical and rehabilitation facilities
- Team theatrette
- Analysis room
- Recovery spaces (hot and cold pools and sauna)
- Administration spaces for the NSW Rugby Union (NSWRU) and the Waratahs

The project is a significant asset for the community, fostering strong development pathways and contributing to the overall success of the Waratahs and grassroots rugby in NSW.
